Oaks is HQ for everything course related. Check it regularly.

Text material: All text material will be provided on Oaks/HQ. There is no required textbook but should you need reference material a textbook is available online at https://open.umn.edu/opentextbooks/textbooks/business-law-and-the-legal-environment. The authors are Don Mayer, Daniel Warner and George Seidel. The book is open source and free for your use in this class. It has chapters that cover each of the topics in this course. Please respect the rules of open source in your use of the text.

How things will work:

This is a face to face class with meetings twice a week. I will take roll for the first two weeks so it can be certified to the registrar.

The class begins August 23 and the last session meets December 1.

All material, assignments, links and due dates will be posted to Oaks/HQ. You must know how to use Oaks: please contact https://help.cofc.edu for help. The course is divided up into seven topics. Each topic will be covered in approximately two weeks. Voice thread lectures or “v-casts” on the topics are posted to Oaks/HQ under content and are to be listened to by you on your own. Power-points on each topic are also provided.

Class sessions will be used for questions, discussion of material, and presentation of daily briefs. Daily briefs are assigned on the syllabus. Check the syllabus and make sure that you are available on your assigned date. After each topic I will assign a Big Think which you will answer in a word or pdf document and upload to the assignment dropbox provided on Oaks/HQ. You will write seven big thinks with the last one due on the day the final exam is scheduled. There is no comprehensive final.

In summary this is what you will be expected to do for this course:

1. listen to the voice thread lectures or ‘v-casts’ on the topic, they are all posted to Oaks
2. view the power-point slides for each topic, they are all posted to Oaks and refer to the text if needed,
3. ask any questions you might have about the material or anything else during the class sessions,
4. upload a daily brief to Oaks/HQ and present it to the class on your assigned day answering any questions from the class and the professor,
5. complete the seven Big Thinks and upload them to Oaks/HQ by the due dates,
6. Check your email and Oaks/HQ regularly.

Your Weekly Schedule:

Tuesday: Class session
Thursday: Class session

Every other week a Big Think will be due by 11:00 pm on Sunday.

This session begins Tuesday August 23 and the last class session is Thursday December 1. The final Big Think is due Thursday December 8, the final exam date.

Oaks/HQ:

Your Oaks page for this course is where you can find everything you need. That is why I am calling it HQ, go there first and if you cannot find the answer e mail me. Under the content tab you will find links to the voice threads (v-casts), the power-points and big thinks. You can also find this syllabus which details the schedule and provides a link to the open source text. Rubrics can also be found there. If you look on the righthand side of Oaks/HQ you will see a calendar of events. You can click on those events to take you to the assignments, etc. You should manage your time by checking that part of the page regularly for due dates. Under the grades tab you will find the assignments link for uploading your work. I will be using the gradebook so you should be able to view your grades and any feedback that I provide.
Final Grade:

(100%) = 70% Big Thinks + 30% Daily Brief

Daily Briefs:

You will be assigned a class session to present your daily brief. You will find your last name beside Daily Brief on a certain date under the schedule of events in this syllabus. You must select a news article published within the prior month that deals with a business law issue and present it to the class for discussion on that date. You should pick an issue that interests you: this allows you to customize the educational experience to your specific interests. You will write up a summary (no longer than one page) of the article stating where you found it and why it is important to business law: what are the important issues it raises. You will upload the summary to the assignment drop box before class begins, late work will be penalized. Please upload as a pdf or word document. Your camera must be turned on when you make this presentation. You will be graded on the written summary, the presentation and on your ability to answer questions. This will count 30% of your final grade. I will do several daily briefs at the start of the semester to serve as a model. A grading rubric is posted to Oaks.

Big Thinks:

After each topic you will find an assignment link to a question designed around that topic’s material. The purpose of the assignment is to show that you understand the material and can apply it. You will write an answer and upload it to Oaks/HQ. It should be no longer than two pages and should be a pdf or word document. I will grade these and provide feedback. Your ability to analyze and apply the class material is critical to learning. You will complete seven of these and they will be averaged for 70% of your final grade. The last one will be due the day scheduled for the final exam in this class, so it will serve as the final exam. A grading rubric is posted. Late work will be penalized.

Rewrites:

You will have the option to rewrite up to two of the first six big thinks. Once you receive your graded big think with comments you can rewrite it and resubmit to the same assignment dropbox, you will have until reading day, December 6, to submit your rewrites. This will give you time to choose which of the first six you want/need to rewrite. You can only rewrite two big thinks. I will grade the rewrite and enter the higher grade. This will allow you to improve your grade on that specific assignment. You must submit a big think which will be graded and returned in order to submit a rewrite. A rewrite cannot make up for missed work. Late work will be penalized.

Grading Scale:
95-100 = A, 90-94 = A-,
87-89 = B+, 84-86 = B, 80-83 = B-, 77-79 = C+,
74-76 = C, 70-73 = C-, 69-67 = D+, 64-66 = D,
63-60 = D-, .59 and below = F

What I ask of you:

Please check Oaks regularly, listen to the voice threads, check the text if needed and come to class with your questions. We will have open discussions in class where I ask you to be considerate of each other as we all share our various points of view. The object of the class is to learn something.

I will only take roll during the first two weeks of class so as to certify that you are in the class. This is reported to the registrar’s office.

We all have protectable property interests in the work we produce for this course, you and me. The Oaks/HQ site and its contents are protected and cannot be used for any purpose other than class work without getting the written permission of all participants as well as the College.

Please manage your time wisely so that you can meet all deadlines. If you are having problems let me know or contact student services on campus. Late work will suffer a grade penalty.

You should have an active College e mail account which you check regularly.

If you anticipate the need for any type of special accommodation inform me as soon as possible so that accommodation can be reached. You are responsible for supplying the necessary documentation in support of such accommodation.

If you are experiencing any issues which can impact your participation and performance in this class, please contact me as soon as possible. It is better to discuss these issues as they arise and work them out as soon as possible.

Academic Honesty:

Lying, cheating, attempted cheating, and plagiarism are violations of our Honor Code that, when identified, are investigated. Each incident will be examined to determine the degree of deception involved.

Incidents where the instructor determines the student’s actions are related more to a misunderstanding will be handled by the instructor. A written intervention designed to help prevent the student from repeating the error will be given to the student. The intervention, submitted by form and signed by both the instructor and the student, will be forwarded to the Dean of Students and placed in the student’s file.

Cases of suspected academic dishonesty will be reported directly by the instructor and/or others having knowledge of the incident to the Dean of Students. A student found responsible by the Honor Board for academic dishonesty will receive an XF in the course, indicating failure of the course due to academic dishonesty. This grade will appear on the student’s transcript for two years after which the student may petition for the X to be expunged. The student may also be placed on disciplinary probation, suspended (temporary removal) or expelled (permanent removal) from the College by the Honor Board.

Students should be aware that unauthorized collaboration--working together without permission--is a form of cheating. Unless the instructor specifies that students can work together on an assignment, quiz and/or test, no collaboration during the completion of the assignment is permitted. Other forms of cheating include possessing or using an unauthorized study aid (which could include accessing information stored on a cell phone), copying from others’ exams, fabricating data, and giving unauthorized assistance.

Research conducted and/or papers written for other classes cannot be used in whole or in part for any assignment in this class without obtaining prior permission from the instructor.

Students can find the complete Honor Code and all related processes in the Student Handbook at http://www.cofc.edu/generaldocuments/handbook.pdf
